CAIRO, EGYPT, Jan. 24, 1860.

At Naples I briefly answered your last and when I got to Alexardria I dropped a faw lines to M. giving information of our sefe arrival. After that, we devoted a dey or two to the enriusilies of the place and then took the railway for this city. The Psche's palacs at A. is really one of the most comfortable looking places that we have seen anywhere—not spacious, but sufficiently Isrge for all practical purposes, and in exceedingly good taste. Before entering we were furnished with slippers to put on, and then two servants conducted as through the verious rooms. The floors are all inlaid with diff rent kinds of choice wood—one with ebory and pearls—and the ceilings and walls are very richly decorated. There is not a profusion of furniture, but what there is, is of the very richest kind. The Pacha's bedstead is of silver with high posts and a canopy. In addition to the ordinary epartments of a palace, we found a billiard room, smoking room, and bath room, the latter entirely of marble. Just across the garden on one side of this palace stands the harem and on the other side the barbor. When we were at Alexardrie the Pacha was absent on a line and not be added to the control of the palace stands in the Nile and search of the palace stands in the note that the place stands in the palace stands in the palace and the place and the palace stands in the palace and the pa the harem and on the other side the harbor. When we were at Alexardrie the 1'sch was absent on a trip up the Nile, and, as near as we could understand the streamts, the ladies of the harem were on a visit to Cairo. The day after our arrival here we met 8 or 10 close carriages precaded by a man on borsehack, in military dress, and followed by an Etyptian hand. As the carriages passed us, we saw that they were filled with women clusely veiled; (the eyes always excepted,) and this we understood was a part of the harem of the Pacha. On the same afternoon, we also met a bridal procession, consisting of perhaps 15 or 20 women, with the bride in the centra, dressed in ecerlet with a white veil, the whole preceded by three drums (and marvellous its ruments they were) en rou's for the residence of the harband, who as yet had never seen the face of whole preceded by three drums (and marvellous its ruments they were) en rou's for the residence of the hubsted, who as yet had never seen the face of his sffluced bride!

But to return to Alexandria. We left there on the morning of the 18th, and were not a little surprised on reaching the railway to fired that the cars bors the semp of a manufacturing firm of Springfield, Mess. We found them comfortable, and the ride to this place a pleasant one of shoul six hours, along the valley of the Nile. We creased one of its branches soon after leaving A., and began to get a view of Egyptian agricultura. The principal crops seemed to be grain and cotton. Their plows ere ware epecimens of simplicity, composed of two pieces of wood fastened together with e both, with a little strip of iron on the lower end of the upright piece. This breaks up the crust of the earth in the cepth of two or three inches, which seems to be all that the coil requires. But we saw one of the strengest tesms that yon could imagine—a camel and a buffalo yeked tegether. All along our routs were wells and ditches for irrigation, and many an ox going his lonely rounds raising the water, and in other cases two men would be seen sitting on opposite sides of a ditch disping up the water in a sort of basket fastened on either side to ropes which they held, and with which they ewing it into and out of the water. But the mind but villages all along the route completely capped the climix. Such humen hebitations I did rot sunpose existed any where on the face of the earth. To look at them at a short distance from you, they have the appearance of a vast manure pile, which is only veried on a near approach by the little avenuse through which the dirty inhabitants get in and out.

As we approached Cairo a few trees came into view, and we caught a glimpse of the tops of the Pyramids. Along the easlern horizon for a considerable distance from you, they have the appearance of a vast manure pile, which is only veried on a near approach by the little avenuse through

On our arrival we had considerable difficulty in getting entitable accommedations for colarge a party, but finally took the heet rooms we cauld get at the Hotel d'Orient. Here we have found a very good table and more guests than in any hotel that we have seen sires wa were in Lucerne last summer, and yet we are told that the rush up the Nile is about over. Unit arrangements for the trio are now completed, and we expect to be off on Thursdey next if the weether proves favorable. We have taken two boats, accommedating six each, and our dragoman, Achmst Scidi, is the same that Bayard Teylor had in his travels in this querter of the world. He appears to be an intelligent Musselman, and his character for honesty is much above the ordinary standard of his class. He speaks English quite correctly. Thompson Magt, house & lot. Shipp.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH. 7, 1860. The bill which has been reported in Con gress, to establish communication by railroad nec tslegraph between the Atlantic States and Califor nia, is one of the most important objects of legisla tion over brought before the American people. In the magnificance of the project, the immonsity of the interests involved, and the wenderful results which it must accomplish, not morely on our national prosperity but the commerce of the entire world, its contemplation brings up visions of future grandeur, which will revolutionize all the presen theoriee of Irade, and secure to our country the advantages to spring from extended immigration, his iedividual vole can at all times and under all the opening to civilization of now inaccessible regions, and the carrying trade of both continents. The bill makes grants to two different companies, who are to run different routes; to the Southern route, three alternate sections of land per mile, on either side of its road, from the Mississippi river to the eastern houndary of Texas, and twenty-five alternate sections per mile, on each side, from the western boundary of Texes to the castern houndsry of Californie; and from thenco six altornate sections per mile, on each side, to the Pacific Ocean, inal provisions, as first introduced by Mr. McElroy at or noar San Francisco. Grunts of similar value from the House Committee on the Judiciary are given by the same bitt for the construction of though it was drawn up in this city by Democratic another raitroad route, from the western boundarice of Iowa or Missouri toward the pase over the on the General Council to levy a tax for the suppo Rocky Mountains, and thence to San Francisco, of the police, and in case of failure every member with a brench to the navigable waters of the Council was held individually liable for the polumbia river, near its mouth, or to Pugot'e Sound. lico salariee in double their amount, with interest, All these companies are to construct telegraph lines and if the Mayor, in the exercise of his official at the same time with their roads under the same power, should veto any measure intended to make grants, and the Government of the United States is such provision, he was made limble in the same manat all times to have preference in their use for mil- nor and his salery subject to attachment. Well may

For every fifty miles of main railroad and telegraph constructed and fully equipped, the companice are to receive one million of dollars of bonds itary and designate one of their nwn number to or treasury notes of the United States; the Govornment receiving the mortgage upon the road and glving the Mayor power to call out the military, or telegraph lines to secure the repayment of this eum; to control and direct them, were proposed to be rethe loane to be increased to two millions when the pealed. Was there ever such legislation dreamed roads reach the base of the Rocky Mountains, for of bofore, and yot the original llouso bill, No. 631, overy fifty miles so completed and equipped, until "An Act to provide an efficient l'olice Department the aggregate of loans chall reach thirty-five mil- for the city of Louisville," is now before us, and lions of dollars for each road. The Police Commissioner Bill which the Laristeture has passed, to take the control of en unnicipal affairs from the hands of the guardians properly delegated to supervise them, shall receive o factious opposition from us. Although the act originated in the meanest spirit of party maleveright and duty, by the unscrupnlons majority at Frankfort, with the open confess on that it was in rded for partisan effice, etill we must respect th lew, however much we may despise the law-makment of its workings to expose ils utter impract ability and absurdity. There never was an ac leliberated upon and pessed through the forms of gislation so crude and undigested in its provision Chancellor, or in his default by the Governor, sr every statute of the Commonwealth, and overy or inance of the city, aed there is no tribunal named to which the people can appeal for redress. Thee o, they are sinpowered to prescribe when, and for vhat, salariss and pay may be forfeited, and have bsolute control of suspension, or removal from ofce, but there is no code to regulate the conduct of police officers, and the Commissioners can impose a penalty upon them for their political principles as readily as for any official malfeasanen or nonfeas ance, and indeed the change of political principle is the great and controling object of the bill. Th Mayor baids the merest shadow of authority, for lroumstances he nullified by the action of his two Louisville llotel, would call the attention of me essociates. In fac', the Commissioners, appoiete y the Governor, can cet at defiance the will of the millinery goode. Being in this business exclusively pseple, and as soon as the police officers are elected, they offer inducements superior to any house in the here may be various barassing and embarrassing rules adopted which will force them, from salf-r speet, to resign, or else render them amenable to risdiction from which there is no appeal. The malignant spirit in which this bill was b gotton can be best estimated by looking at its origoliticians. The sixth section made it compulsor

The New York polica which avowed the same purpose that the Kantucky Lagislature did, to take the police out of the bands with which he had converted the old police force into a pliant tool for the promotion of his personal and munitions of war and the other necessities of and political purposes. ODELL & MCCAWLEY,

Special Notice.-Persons owing us and whose accounts heve been running some time will ablige

It is important to have an early Convention for the purpose of nominating a good candidats for the State Sonate in the six upper wards of the city. The hot haste in calling an election for the 19th of March, when there is no necessity for the vacaocy to be filled before August or August a year, betokens something. Possibly the Lonofoeos thin'k that they can slip in one of their men, and thus give some justification for their odious legislathe purpose of apportioning the State into Congresaional Districts until 1861. The law of Congress itself provides that no election under any censue and this District cannot be changed until after wo hold another election in August, 1861. As, however, the Governor may call an extra cession for ome extraordinery purpose, we respectfully suggest that our friends assemble on the 12th (next Monday) in the city court room, at 12 o'clook M., and nomin ste the best man who can be induced to necept

A STRANGR STORY—Tite Gitost of a Brnedictive and the apparation of a Priest appeared to those living at Latrole; and we present below a datailed account of this apernataral phenoman, la which the exaggrations of the current rumors are corrected, and the reality of the appearance affirmed. After all, there is nothing more marvelona is this than lat the stories related is Mrs. Growe's "Night Side of Natare," and Owea's "Notalis on the Bouedaries of Another World," whila it is batter authenticated than half of the narrativee admitted into those volumes of the sapermundane. Those, therefore, who are ready to subscribe to the irrath of the aparations gives by Owon—who, himself, has comato bulieve is an immediate etate of progression—will be sadly puzzled apon what groneds to discard the Basedictiae Monk of St. Vioceat's Abbey, as an illnsion. The following is the communication of the worthy Abbot:

The truth is that at St. Viacent's Abbey, near Lairobe, a Novica saw, from the 18th of Sept. ustil tha 19th of Nov., 1859, every day from 11 to 12 o'clock A. M., or from 12 to 2 o'clock in the night, the apparition of a Beaclictine Mork in his fall festival dreas. After all, he asked him, is the preserve of another member of the order, what he wasted. The spirit then answered that he had been wasted. The spirit then answered that he had been presence of another member of the order, what he wasted. The spirit then answered that he had been enfiring seventy-awea yeare already because he had not eaid seven masses of obligation; that he had appeared in seven other Benedictrees at different interest times and had not been heard; and that he would not help him. He wanted then even masses eaid for him, busidee the the Novice should for seven days observe the strictest sileaco and retrast; and more, he should say for thirty-three days, each his arms etretched out.
